Faith Reins Competitive Review

Oct 16, 2026 · @Justin

Bottom line

Faith Reins scores 41 of 60, tied with HOPE Landing for the top spot among the 7 Arkansas-area organizations and 5th of 11 overall. It has the best-built website in Arkansas, but unfinished content costs it about 10 points.

- Strengths: the broadest service mix (speech, OT, PT, counseling and equine-assisted learning), the clearest brand, the cleanest navigation, and the only Arkansas equine site with a full payment page (insurance, ARKids First, Medicaid, private pay, financial aid).
- Weaknesses: 4 of 5 clinicians are listed as "Sample Name," sponsor logos are blank placeholders, testimonials are unattributed, and the site gives no numbers (children served, sessions, years).
- Opportunity: no competitor in Arkansas combines faith-rooted branding, insurance-billed pediatric therapy, counseling and equine programs, with a working online intake path. Fixing the placeholder content would put Faith Reins near 50, level with the best national benchmarks.

Competitor set: 3 south Arkansas (HOPE Landing, Texarkana Therapy Center, Sunshine Therapeutic Riding Center), 3 more in Arkansas (Beyond Boundaries, HorsePlay, Branded Equine), and 4 national benchmarks (Hearts & Horses, Children's TherAplay, Hope Reins, Equest). That reads your request as 10 competitors total: 6 in Arkansas, 3 of those in south Arkansas.

Scorecard

Hearts & Horses (51) and Children's TherAplay (50) lead; Faith Reins ties HOPE Landing at 41 for best in Arkansas. On the website alone, Faith Reins (27 of 35) is beaten only by the three top national benchmarks (30 each); its business score (14 of 25) is what holds it back. Both tables are sorted by overall total.

Faith Reins site review

The site's structure is stronger than any Arkansas competitor's; its content is not finished.

What works

- Services: five dedicated pages (speech, OT, PT, counseling, equine-assisted learning), each with goals, a what-to-expect sequence and "often paired with" cross-links.
- Brand: "People. Horses. Brighter futures." and "Rooted in faith. Guided by care." are clear, warm and consistent, with a defined deep-green palette and logo set.
- Audience paths: separate entry points for parents, referring providers and donors; a 4-step "path to care"; Request an appointment in the hero.
- Access: the payment page covers commercial insurance, ARKids First, Medicaid, private pay and need-based aid. No Arkansas equine competitor publishes this.
- Compliance: privacy, terms, HIPAA notice and accessibility statement; skip-to-content link; local SEO titles ("Camden and South Arkansas").
- Giving: monthly giving ($100/month framing), sponsorships, a shop, newsletter, and a named horse sponsor (Cowboy, McTigrit Family).

What hurts it

- Placeholder team: on Our Team, only Donna Horton (Founder, PATH Intl. Certified) is real. The OT, SLP, PT and LPC are all "Sample Name" with generic avatars. Parents and referring physicians will notice.
- Placeholder sponsors: Our Partners shows 17 blank Platinum/Gold/Silver/Bronze logos and no names.
- No proof: no children served, sessions, years open or outcomes. Testimonials are signed "A Camden family" and "Parent of a 9-year-old."
- Insurance wording: "We are working to accept major commercial insurance plans" signals the practice may not be in-network yet. State which plans are accepted today.
- Narrow equine offer: ground-based EAL only, with the site stating it is not clinical therapy. HOPE Landing, Beyond Boundaries and HorsePlay all offer hippotherapy (therapists using the horse's movement), which insurers can cover.
- Imagery: horse photo file names don't match the horses (Jesse uses "horse-biscuit"), suggesting stock or template images. Real photos of the barn, staff and kids would build trust.
- Thin news and social: three posts (Aug–Oct 2026), one announcing a hiring search; no social media links found; the newsletter form needs JavaScript.

Competitor profiles

HOPE Landing is the direct rival: faith-based, therapy plus horses, about 35 miles from Camden, with 20 years of track record. None of the Arkansas equine programs publishes insurance or Medicaid information or offers online intake.

Recommendations

The first four fixes are content, not design, and would lift Faith Reins from 41 to about 50 (team +3, proof +2, trust +2, imagery +1, site health +1).

Fix now (before promoting the site)

- [ ] Replace every "Sample Name" with real clinicians: photo, name, license, credentials. If a role is unfilled, remove the card and keep the hiring notice. (Model: Hearts & Horses, Beyond Boundaries.)
- [ ] Replace placeholder sponsor logos with real sponsor names, or hide the tiers until there are sponsors.
- [ ] Add an "impact by the numbers" strip to the homepage: families served, sessions, horses, volunteer hours. (Model: Equest, HOPE Landing.)
- [ ] Swap stock-style images for real photos of the Camden barn, team and herd (with photo releases).

Next 90 days

- [ ] State which insurers, ARKids First and Medicaid plans are accepted today, and link the intake form from that page. (Model: Children's TherAplay.)

- [ ] Add a donor-to-care message such as "donors cover $X of every session" and a sponsor-a-child level. (Model: TherAplay, Hope Reins.)
- [ ] Add sponsor-a-horse pages with a daily cost. (Model: HOPE Landing at $6.85/day, HorsePlay.)
- [ ] Link Facebook and Instagram, and publish news monthly; add Google Business reviews.

Strategic

- [ ] Consider adding hippotherapy delivered by your OT/PT/SLP. It is the main service gap against HOPE Landing, Beyond Boundaries and HorsePlay, and can be billed as therapy.
- [ ] Pursue PATH Intl center membership and list it; a Charity Navigator or Candid seal adds donor trust. (Model: Hope Reins, Hearts & Horses.)
- [ ] Lean into the unique position: the only Arkansas program combining faith-rooted care, insurance-billed speech/OT/PT, counseling and horses, with a clear online path to care.

Method and caveats

Scores come from reading each site's pages in October 2026, plus nonprofit listings and local press. They are judgment calls against the rubric above, not audited figures.

- Pages were read as text, so visual design, mobile layout and page speed (metrics 7, 8, 12) are inferred from structure, not tested on a phone.
- PATH Intl accreditation levels, Google review counts and Medicaid enrollment were not checked against official directories.
- Texarkana Therapy Center's clinics are on the Texas side, but it bills Arkansas Medicaid and serves the region. UAMS Kids First in Magnolia was the alternate for that slot.
- Branded Equine Therapy's website is suspended, so it was scored from press and its chamber listing.
- Hope Reins figures are from 2018 press; Equest's fee page and TherAplay's team page did not load.
